David McCoy Achieves 30 Year Milestone at Metro Wire & Cable-Southeast

In January, sales consultant David McCoy celebrated 30 years of service at Metro Wire & Cable's Lawrenceville, Georgia facility. In an age when the average number of years an employee spends with their employer is 4.2 years, this is a remarkable achievement.

With his wide and in-depth knowledge of wire and cable, McCoy services some of the company's largest southern public utilities and electrical contractors and has developed long-time relationships with many of his customers. A Michigan native, he has never regretted his migration to the milder southern climate. An enthusiast of the Ford Mustang, he and his family reside in suburban Atlanta.

"David has always been willing to go the extra mile (or two) to take care of his customers," said Southeast Regional Sales Manager Richard Wade. "He understands their business and listens to their needs and then comes up with a solution." Along with other Metro Wire milestone employees, McCoy will be honored later in the year at a recognition dinner.
